B.C. Health Changeover Due April 1

Reorganization of health and welfare and mental health departments will likely take place April 1, start of the 1959-60 fiscal year, Health and Welfare Minister Eric Martin said yesterday.

The move will create a new welfare department and put all health services, including mental health, under a single department.

It is not known whether a new cabinet minister will be appointed. Herbert Bruch (SC-Esquimalt) has been mentioned as a likely man for a cabinet post, but indications are that Provincial Secretary Wesley Black will take over the second portfolio as welfare minister and Health Minister Eric Martin will continue with the health ministry.

That move would mean Mr. Black would have three Portfolios. He is already minister of municipal affairs as well as provincial secretary.

Cat-Size Rat Bites Baby

OTTAWA (CP)—A three-month-old baby girl is recovering here in hospital after being bitten in her crib Saturday by a vicious rat the size of a small cat.

Lise Beaudin was bitten on the forehead, temple and top of the head.

Better Half Solves Case

Vancouver policeman James Yhimas lets his wife Eva, 19, wear his hat after she turned sleuth to recover his stolen car and capture its six juvenile occupants. Eva trailed the stolen vehicle in her mother's car and blocked it in an alley until police arrived.

Death Appeal Filed

Appeal against conviction last week of Robert Chapman, 19, Chilliwack, sentenced to be hanged March 31 for the shotgun killing of his brother, has been filed in Court of Appeal in Victoria.

Notice of appeal claims that the verdict was against the weight of evidence, that admission of certain documents by Chapman was "inflammatory and prejudicial" to his defence, and that the trial judge misdirected the jury on the question of accident.

Date for this hearing, and for the appeal on behalf of Leo Anthony Mantha, sentenced to hang March 17 for the murder of RCN sailor Aaron Jenkins, have not yet been set.

Bennett Urges Trade Board Delegation:

Help Industrial Peace

Premier Bennett told a Vancouver Board of Trade delegation yesterday there is a widening gulf between management and labor and asked the delegates if there was something they could do to narrow the gap.

The delegation presented a petition to cabinet which asked the prohibition of secondary boycotts (taking action against others not party to a dispute), sympathy strikes, unfair or preferential listings and the practice of declaring merchandise "hot."

Among major changes asked in the brief:

1. Conciliation boards be abandoned and the conciliation service become a mediation service with increased responsibility.

2. Trade unions, certified as bargaining authorities, be incorporated under the Societies Act, as are other recognized groups and associations within the province.

3. Picketing be prohibited, except outside premises where members of a union are employed and a legal strike exists.

4. Arbitration apply only to those disputes involving public utilities or those which, in the opinion of the cabinet, would imperil the health or safety of the general public.

5. The importance of labor-management relations be recognized by placing the labor relations board on a full-time basis with labor and management having equal representation.

6. The date for a strike or lockout be fixed on the ballot taken under the government supervised vote, this date to be not less than 10 days and not more than 21 days after the vote.

Housing Project Closer

Bids to construct the first unit of the Gorge View Society's $500,000 senior citizens' housing project will be opened tomorrow.

Charles Craig, the society's architect, said he expects the building committee will award the contract by the end of the week.

Six bids are expected, he said, from Parfitt Construction, Farmer Construction, Weismiller Construction, E. J. Hunter & Sons, Luney Bros. and Hamilton, and Pollard Construction.

Ultimate plans are for a 40-building development on five acres of land bounded by Harriet, Balfour and Irma on the Gorge. First building will have four suites for single pensioners and two for married couples.

Magistrate Convicts Motorist

In a lengthy judgment handed down in city police court yesterday, Magistrate William Ostler found Gilbert Hogg, of 13 Vickery, guilty of being impaired while in control of a motor vehicle last Dec. 2.

At request of defence counsel James J. Proudfoot, accused was remanded to today for sentence.
